

A Pointer.

"Straws show which way the winds blow"—
Go to, thou old time screed!
They show which way the ice
drifts go
These days—they do, indeed.

When we have fair weather,
The sun's too hot;
When the clouds get heavy,
Two much rain we've got!
And though you'll deny it,
And will say 'tis rough—
When we get to heaven,
'Twill be good enough!

Fred Frank, a native of Louisa, was here Saturday as a member of the Ashland base ball club. He has developed into a very fine player and is constantly in demand by the towns in the vicinity of Catlettsburg.

A complete outfit of fine uniforms has been ordered for the Louisa base ball club, preparatory to making the tour recently planned. The suits are of a light gray color, with stockings and trimmings of red.

The Masonic entertainment hall is seated and all complete and is a very nice room. It will seat 220 persons. The seats are all open chairs, 100 of them being cushioned and the remainder the perforated wood bottom.

Judge Kinner yesterday refused to continue in force the injunction issued last week restraining the Sheriff of this county from the collection of taxes for the present year. Twenty days are allowed for taking the matter to the Court of Appeals.

Felix Webb died at his home a short distance over in West Virginia a few days ago of heart disease. The first attack of the trouble, was about six weeks ago, since which time he had frequent severe attacks. He was 25 years old and was married.

How It Was Done.

Ashland 19, Louisa 10.
That tells our tale of woe.
We met the enemy and soon were their's.

Ashland's crack team came up to Louisa last Saturday burdened with a record of five straight victories, and went home loaded down with half a dozen. They play the game called base ball.

The game was a slugging match in which the Louisa club did a much bigger share than those cold figures up there would ordinarily indicate.

The tugging did not decide the contest; it was the folding—or the lack of it. To say that Louisa lost the game is to express it more accurately than to say that Ashland won it. The best exhibition of wild throwing ever seen here was given by the Louisa club. A few beautiful muffs and a sample of most all the errors in the catalogue also helped to adorn the score-card.

It was simply Louisa's "off day." She can't play ball on the 14th of July. We were all considerably stuck up after shutting out the Kenova team on July 4th, but this more recent experience has slightly toned us down. However, Louisa hasn't quit playing ball, and with Prof. Welsh and Catcher Harris to help them you may expect better results. The fact that Ashland beat Louisa by a score of 23 to 1 last Monday does much toward allaying the pain of defeat up here.

Ashland also won two games from Mt. Sterling in one day this week.

S. S. Convention.

The Lawrence County Sunday School Convention will be held at Louisa, on Friday evening, July 27, 1894, at 7:30 o'clock at M. E. Church South.

Mr. E. S. Roswell, the State Visitor, is expected to be present. All superintendents, teachers and friends of Sunday School work of all churches are cordially invited to attend.

A complete program will be prepared for the occasion and a free and full discourse of all questions relating to Sunday School work will be expected. Religious services and good music will be an attractive part of the convention. If the attendance and interest taken shall justify so doing the Convention will continue Saturday. Come and take part.

E. T. Burns, President.

Big Blackberry Business.

Heretofore the large blackberry crops which the surrounding country produces have depended for a market upon the consumers living in Louisa, and the result was that the price usually soon reached ten cents a bushel, which is about two and one-half gallons; and even at that price the market was often overstocked. This year's crop is the largest ever known in this section, and yet the prices have been better than before. The thanks of the blackberry people for the good prices are due the merchants, who arranged for the sale of the luscious fruit at various towns down the river. Our merchants paid 25 cents per bushel and the way berries poured into town was wonderful. The first shipment was made last Friday and up to this time about 2,500 gallons have been shipped. The market below was almost choked by Tuesday's heavy shipment, causing the price to tumble to ten cents a bushel. Green beans and new potatoes have also been shipped.

Don't Miss It.

The new Opera House will be opened by the "Euterpean Sextette Club" Thursday July 26, at 8 p. m. Proceeds to go toward ladies' debt to M. E. Church South. All are invited to attend. Apply for tickets at post office.

A Preacher Killed.

Rev. Wm. Dickerson, pastor of the Baptist church at Fort Gay, W. Va., was the victim of an unusual accident recently. His mule was hinged to the top plank of a fence when Mr. Dickerson suddenly threw a sack full of meat across the animal's back. The mule sprang backward and pulled the plank loose, the end of it striking Mr. Dickerson with great force on the head, just back of the ear. He died from the effects of the injury last Saturday. The burial took place Monday and was very largely attended.

LAWN FETE.

The greatest affair of the season was given at the beautiful home of Mr. W. F. Moore on last Friday evening. Enough could not be said as to the magnificent manner in which everything was conducted. Much enjoyment was added to the evening by the guitar and the beautiful voice of Miss Hulah Davidson, of Ashland. The proceeds are for the benefit of our deserving pastor, Rev. W. H. Surgeon.

FREE COINAGE.

Uncle Sam Does'nt Approve Of It.

George Wright and son Calvin, of Oliveville, this county, not only believe in free coinage of money but have been practicing it for about a year.

The attention of the United States officials was called to the probable existence of a counterfeiting establishment in this county by an arrest made last fall for passing a spurious dollar. The party lived in the Oliveville neighborhood.

Mr. John Sweeney, of the Secret Service Bureau, has been working on the case for some time and the location of the plant and the arrest of the parties are due to his efforts. An abundance of proof has been secured and the case is strong against the parties. They were brought before U. S. Commissioner Stewart and had a full hearing Wednesday, and were held to answer to U. S. Court. Bail was fixed at $1,000 each, which they failed to give.

The prosecution had one witness who watched the operations of the counterfeiters through a hole in the wall. The molds were of plaster of paris set in wood. Three dollars were made at one casting. The triple mold was made of two thick boards with a smooth surface, in each of which three holes were bored partly through. These holes were all filled with prepared plaster of paris, three silver dollars were placed on the plaster and the two boards put together and kept that way until the plaster was hardened. A perfect impression was thus obtained. A hole was cut from the edge of the boards down to each of the molds. Into these holes the molten composition of babbit metal and zinc was poured. The boards were then taken apart and the coins were complete except for a "nick" on the edge where the hole connected. This was easily trimmed off. The coins showed up well until they became dull and dark. It seems that the molds were recently destroyed. Nickels were also coined by the same people. A good many of the coins were put into circulation and a few of them found their way to the coffers of some Louisa people. The counterfeiters bought all the pistols and cheap watches in their neighborhood and succeeded in passing some of the coin on the local merchants.

George Wright is said to be 65 years old, though he does not look to be more than 50. His son is 19 years old. They are pretty clever fellows for backwoodsmen, but they are now good for a long term in prison.

UNEXPECTED GOOD NEWS.

$40,000 For the Lock and Dam.

It is always darkest just before day.

Just when almost everybody had quit hoping for the necessary increase of $12,000 to the lock and dam appropriation the good news came that the Senate Committee had added the amount to the item of $28,000 in the House bill. Two days later the Senate passed the river and harbor bill. It must now go to a conference committee and if the increase is not cut off there, it will become a law. With proper diligence on the part of our Representatives there will be but little danger of the item being cut off. It is probable that the river and harbor bill will become a law within a few days. The appropriation becomes available at once, but at least ten days further time is required to unwind the red tape and get the necessary orders from headquarters to go to work. No time will be wasted by Mr. Thomas in getting a good force of men at work.

The Washington correspondent of the Louisville Times credits the increase to the extraordinary efforts of Hon. T. H. Paynter, who carried his fight into the Senate Committee. It is a great victory for the reason that $10,000 is just $12,000 more than the engineers recommended, and the rule of the Congressional Committee was to cut the amounts recommended by the engineers two-thirds. Under this rule we were entitled to only $18,666. It is greatly to Mr. Paynter's credit to see him laboring just as earnestly as possible so near the close of his Congressional career. It is a lamentable fact that many Representatives relax their efforts under such conditions.

Some good work was also secured at the hands of our Senators through the persistent efforts of Mr. Thomas and Col. Jay H. Northrup.

Heavy Bond For Cole.

Lou Cole's examination was completed last Friday at Catlettsburg and he was held to answer at Circuit Court, his bond being fixed at $10,000. He has given bond and has removed to Huntington, W. Va., where he will continue in the employ of the timber firm of Crane & Cole. He is charged with complicity in the killing of the Faulkners, but the proof does not appear to be very strong against him.

DEREFIELD.

J. M. Dalton will teach our school, which will not open for some time yet owing to the fact that the school building is being removed from the creek to the summit of the hill near the graveyard, where the people will have commodious access to it.

The counterfeit money business, which has been carried on this vicinity for some time past, is creating a great deal of excitement.

They had a high old time over on Irish creek last Saturday night. First, a pie mite; proceeds, $2.50. Second, preaching by Revs. Hughes, Kelly and Farley. Third, a crowd of about thirty came up the creek after church, accompanied by an abundance of "tangle-foot" and quite a number of revolvers. We are informed that several shots were fired, wounding their "sweetness" on the desert air.

If it doesn't rain within the next ten days, farmers won't raise corn sufficient to feed their chickens.

Boyd county yet lacks one teacher with a first-class certificate in order to supply all her schools of that class. Lawrence has some to spare.

Dave Justice, one of the participants in the Catlettsburg tragedy, is still alive but his chances for recovery seem to be growing less and his death is expected at any time.

A fire destroyed almost a block of Huntington property last Monday. The Florentine hotel was partly destroyed. The Daily Advertiser office was completely consumed.

Considerable excitement was created at Wayne, W. Va., a few days ago by the finding of a boot and overshoe containing the skeleton of an ankle and foot. It was identified as that of Jas. Bing, the lawyer who was drowned in Twelve Pole four years ago. An extensive search for the remainder of the body is going on.

The following beautiful and very creditable verses were composed by Rev. C. H. Williamson, of Newport, Ky., son-in-law of Mr. R. T. Burns:

I am thinking to-day of that beautiful land,
Of the country beyond the skies,
Where age never comes, nor tear-drops fall,
Where the brightness of day never dies.
I long, I long,
Oh I long for that "better land."

I am thinking to-day of the song they sing—
That happy and blood-washed throng;
With harps and voices that never cease
They are singing the old, new, song.
Oh sweet and glad
Are the strains of that endless song.

I am thinking to-day of the love up there,
The love of that "better land,"
Where the heart grows young, and eyes are bright
With a love that shall never end.
Oh, pure and blest
Is the love of that happy land.

Will you go with me to that beautiful place,
To live in that land for aye;
To sit in the smile of God's reconciling face,
And worship the ages away?

Oh come, oh come,
Oh come, to that "unbright cime,"
